Vote on the Amendment to Deed Restrictions By Ken Heckert

Currently our covenants do not permit the Home Owners Association to enter the yards of unoccupied or foreclosed homes. The purpose of this amendment is to enable the HOA to address the problem created when an owner abandons his/her home and stops maintaining it so that it falls into a state of disrepair, becomes an eyesore, and negatively affects neighborhood property values.

In order to better protect neighborhood property values, this amendment will enable the HOA to give the owner notice of the problem, demand that the owner correct it within a reasonable time frame, perform the needed maintenance if he/she does not, and assess the responsible owner accordingly.

An attorney has written the proposed amendment for Article 4, Land Use Restrictions, and the full text is in the Annual Meeting Packet, along with a ballot. If you have questions prior to casting your vote, contact Ken Heckert at kenheckert@verizon.net.

In order to become effective, the amendment must be approved by 2/3 of the entire membership of the HOA, followed by approval by the Board of Directors. We need your vote to pass this amendment.

How to vote for the amendment: You will receive the Annual Meeting Packet in mid-January. Your packet will include a form that states the amendment and requests a Yes or No vote. Please return this form in the enclosed envelope to Lighthouse Property Management, prior to or at the Annual Meeting on February 6.

If you fail to return this form in your packet, your lack of response will count as a vote against the amendment.

Scam Warning from Sarasota County Sheriff's Office by Wendy Rose

The Sarasota County Sheriff's Office is warning residents about seasonal door-to-door scams, most recently a scheme where people pose as students involved in a fundraiser. Reported incidents indicate that well-dressed college-age young men are approaching people under the guise of raising money for a school trip. They claim that they attend local universities and that their parents live nearby.

The pitch differs, but on some occasions the suspects ask for $118 for a trip to an overseas sports tournament. If the homeowner seems hesitant they reduce the price and offer magazine subscriptions. The suspect will even present an official looking flyer and receipt, but these do not contain valid information.

In a separate but similar scam, the perpetrator claims to be a state or county worker doing tree work or other contracting in the area. On at least one occasion, the suspect has distracted the victim, entered their home and left with their checkbook or valuables.

However the scam plays out, we want to remind residents to not open their door to uninvited guests, even if they claim to be neighbors or claim to be doing official work. Anyone who feels unsafe should call the Sheriff's Office immediately so deputies can contact the individuals and verify the nature of their business. Call 9-1-1 or the non-emergency number 941-316-1201.

Photographic Exhibit of Works of Palladio and Canova, sponsored by Sister City Treviso, Italy and USF
By Norma Lee Rhines

“Photographic Exhibit of Works of Palladio and Canova,” a photographic exhibit by Cristina Madeyski from Treviso, Italy, will be exhibited at the University of South Florida next spring. Alexandra De Stefanis, resident of Rivendell and a director for Sarasota Sister Cities Association says, “This is an exhibit not to be missed.” Both SSCA and USF are sponsoring this show.

Photos exhibited feature Cristina Madeyski’s works of Palladio and Canova. Palladio is a famous Italian architect and considered to be the father of Neo-classical temples. His influence is evident in Jefferson’s Monticello and the Capitol in Washington, DC. Antonio Canova was an Italian sculptor and is most noted for sculptures of women, including Paolina Borghese and Three Graces and the Dancers. Cristina photographed these sculptures and buildings in a natural way through reflections giving a sense of movement. As a result, her photos offer extraordinary and unpredictable views of her subjects. Her photographs are never touched up to the moment of printing.

Ms. Madeyski, born in Trieste, Italy, has been interested in photography since 1980 and has devoted herself to natural macrophotography. Since 1996 she has exhibited in Australia, Italy, Austria, and Florida and participated in photographic competitions earning her various awards.

Exhibit Information: William G. Selby and Marie Selby Auditorium, University of South Florida, 8350 N. Tamiami Trail, Sarasota, tel. 941-359-4200. February 6 - March 5, 2012. Refreshments will be served on opening day, February 6, 11AM – 1PM.

The Exceptional Myanmar Experience

By Paul Sarno

My 2011 Southeast Asian travel experience revolved principally around my wife Anita and me guiding seventeen, primarily American senior citizens around Myanmar (formerly Burma). For nine days, we visited the commercial capital of Yangon (formerly Rangoon), Bagan (the capital from about 870 to 1200), Mandalay (the second city, arts center and last royal capital), and Inle Lake (the northern Shan State home of leg rowers and floating gardens).

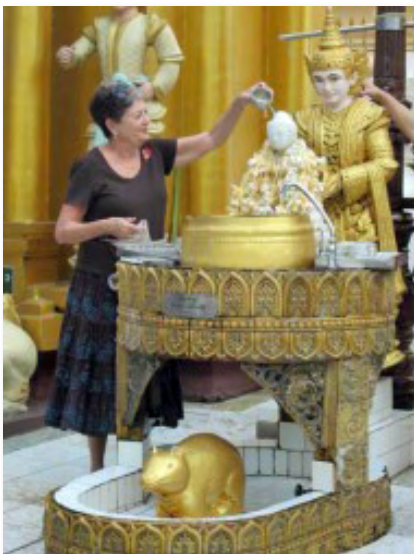

The tour concentrated on three aspects: a well-grounded understanding of Burmese history, religions and culture through my lectures; an appreciation of its classical music, dance and marionette arts (as many of our meals were accompanied by live performances of artists in those media); and an appreciation of the cuisines of the country via meals in local restaurants and the hotels in which we stayed, and a visit to a Mandalay teashop where we sampled the unique strong Burmese tea with condensed milk and sugar. All were supplemented by the constant insights of our local guide Myo Win Myint.

The highlights included an extended stay at the Shwedagon Pagoda in Yangon, the holiest site in Theravada Buddhist Myanmar, the ancient temples of royal Bagan, Mt Popa, the home of the indigenous animist spirits, the Kuthodaw Pagoda in Mandalay where the Buddhist Tripitaka (Bible), as revised in 1871, is carved into 729 large stone tablets, the Pindaya caves in the Shan State, (home to thousands of Buddhist images of all sizes and hand positions), the leg rowers (usually fishermen who row the boat with an oar wrapped around one leg so they can see where they are going), and floating gardens where vegetables are grown directly on vegetation platforms on the lake. The group also observed the ancient arts of lacquer ware, silk and cotton weaving, stone carving, gold and silversmithing.

But perhaps the ultimate delight was the visit to the nineteenth century Yangon Synagogue hosted by our tour organizer, the Samuels family, five of about twenty Jews left in Myanmar, and the final dinner at which my invited Burmese guests, a film writer and producer, an art gallery owner, and a lawyer/librarian and their sons interacted with us in a lively and informal manner. Overarching all of this was the Burmese people (the real reason one travels the twenty-four hours to arrive there). They are uniformly warm, polite, funny, and so anxious for you to understand their country. A simple "Mingalaba" (on greeting) and "gesu tin bah deh" (when thanking their omnipresent acts of kindness) smoothes the path to real insight and avoids the temporary annoyance at ever-present attempts to sell you more handicrafts than you could ever add to your luggage. All in all, the nineteen travelers experienced nine days they will long remember and many already are planning a return.

Paul Sarno will be teaching in Sarasota about Southeast Asian political systems at Pierian Spring Academy for six Tuesdays (2 hours each) commencing February 21, 2012, more details at <http://www.pierianspringacademy.org>

Pool News

By Bruce Lorie, Committee Chair

Christmas and New Year's weeks had a record turnout at our pool. Over 75 people used our warm sparkling clean 80-degree water. Come by and enjoy the warm sunshine and relax by your community pool.

The lighting has been repaired in the entry foyer and covered seating area at the pool. The landscape lighting was also repaired, and this has improved the overall appearance and security of the Pool Complex. I urge all homeowners to please drive by at night and see the difference.

On December 27, 2011, the ARC approved the paint colors for the Pool Complex and the new doors for the restrooms. We expect the work will commence in a few weeks, weather permitting. Please be advised that there will be some random closings. During the renovation of the Pool Complex, bicycles cannot be left chained to the bike rack or fence. The Pool Committee is looking into a temporary bike rack to be located in the parking lot area; we will keep you advised. We are sorry for any inconvenience that this may cause you. Your cooperation is appreciated in this matter. Homeowners will be kept informed by signs posted at the pool regarding pool-closing dates.

Please do not tamper with the heating equipment. This will not make the water any warmer. The pool equipment is running at full capacity and we are doing our best to keep the old equipment running. The pool equipment is checked every day. We have had numerous repairs due to the age of the equipment.

We are in the process of conducting a study on improving the water filtration system and the water heating system. Both of these items have reached their usable life span and will have to be replaced in the near future. We will keep The Rivendell Community fully advised.

The Pool Committee has asked the Landscape/Environmental Committee to develop a plan to improve the dated landscaping in front of the Pool Complex on Rivendell Blvd. We are looking forward

Attending: David Gill (Chair), Rosanne Beatty, Carole Myles, Bruce Lorie. (Seven members of the committee could not attend, for various reasons.)

1. Wetlands & Preserves

a. Aquagenix representatives Michael Wright, Branch Manager, and Stew Metzler, Safety & Compliance Manager, attended; they explained the work they are doing and discussed the chemicals they use to control the exotic and nuisance plants in our preserves. They use EPA approved aquatic herbicides that only affect selective green plants and do not affect fish, animals, birds or humans. Their work follows the Rivendell Master Plan and directions from Sarasota County Resource Protection Services. They answered all our questions.

2. Old Business

- a. Tree Trimming by Valley Crest Arbor Division is completed.
- b. New "floating" main irrigation pump has been installed in Rivendell Lake.
- c. Valley Crest will repair the irrigation on the Rivendell Boulevard bridge and the Placid Lake Drive median. Rework of the Arboracolas will come later.
- d. We are still working on the landscaping contract with Valley Crest.

3. Lakes Report

a. Aquatic Systems: No problems were discussed.

4. New Business & Landscaping Projects

- a. The hedge on the median in Rivendell Blvd, just east of the Cottages entrance, will be trimmed to about three feet high in order to improve driver visibility.
- b. The trees along the Old Venice Road side of The Cottages need additional tree trimming and clean up. This will be added to a new tree-trimming list for 2012.

- c. The Committee will look into obtaining landscaping ideas and proposals for adding more colorful plants around the palm trees in front of the pool.
- d. The Committee will recommend approval of three proposals from Sun State Landscape Management for the installation of Sable Palms, Fakahatchee Grass and Flax Lillies at Pine Pond, Golden Pond and Placid Lake along Scherer Way. Sun State submitted the most complete proposals; they included watering and the best warranties. The new board should sign a work order for this work in early February.
- e. We will get an estimate to plant Bahia grass along the sidewalk of Scherer Way next to the lakes. Right now it is full of weeds.

5. Next meeting: tentatively scheduled for Tuesday, February 14, 2012 at 6:00 PM, at the Cottages Clubhouse.

to seeing the new landscaping design plans. Rivendell has beautiful homes and gardens and the landscaping at the Pool Complex should reflect the same.

The Community Pool is available for parties and The Pool Committee suggests homeowners take advantage of the use of our pool complex. Please contact Lighthouse Property Management or The Pool Committee Chairperson in regard to all parties at the pool.

KUDOsKen Heckert Gets First Ace

On Wednesday, December 14, 2011, Ken Heckert sent a 6-iron cannon shot into the sky and it fell to earth we know not where; that is until he plucked it out of the cup on the 155 yard par 3 fourth hole at the Bobby Jones American Course. His shot was witnessed by Jon Lewis, Max Dickerson, Brian Babbitt and an unnamed greenskeeper, so we know it wasn't another one of Ken's hallucinations. Fortunately, his stroke of genius did not lead to a stroke for any of his playing companions, although they were a bit shell-shocked.

Those wishing to hear the story over and over again are encouraged to call or speak to Ken directly. And don't forget to rub his head for good luck.

KUDOs to Wonderful Neighbors

We are so grateful to our neighbor "Steve," who lives with his parents in Rivendell. Steve found my husband's lost wallet in the neighborhood. He called us and brought the wallet to our door. We prepared for the obvious - missing cash - and prayed our credit cards were still inside. We were amazed to see most of the cards in place, and shocked to find not one dollar missing. In an age where we are conditioned against thieves and identity theft, it's refreshing and promising to find a person with such selflessness.

We commend Steve's exceptional character and thank him for his outstanding honesty. We wish him all the best in his future; he shows much promise and deserves great opportunities. We also send our thanks to another Rivendell neighbor who found a few of the cards that had fallen out when the wallet was dropped. She didn't hesitate to email us to return the cards. Many thanks to "Norma Lee" for her care, concern, and promptness in reaching us. We are grateful for such ingenious neighbors! ~ A grateful neighbor, Dana

Cassariano Italian Eatery in Venice, FL

By Mike Bergman

How do you say delicious food in Italian? The locals in Sarasota and Venice say Cassariano, for good reason. It is owned and run by two partners, Luca Cassana and award-winning chef Antonio Pariano, both born and raised in Northern Italy. They prepare authentic, contemporary Italian cuisine in a casual, relaxed ambience that tends to fill up fast most nights.

The menu starts with some wonderful appetizers, notably a mixed seafood antipasto, carpaccio of beef or swordfish, eggplant parmigiana, sautéed shrimp, and a yummy polenta cake topped with fontina cheese and truffle oil. A dozen pasta dishes far exceed expectations. They run the gamut of flavors with ingredients sure to please any palate. There's something for everyone, including vegetarians.

The main courses feature veal, chicken, pork tenderloin, and filet mignon, all deliciously sauced and prepared. The seafood dishes feature salmon, halibut, pan-seared ahi-tuna, wild sea bass, as well as shrimp, scallops, and a wonderful Zuppa di Pesce, mingling the flavors of shrimp, scallops, mussels, clams, and Atlantic cod in a fresh tomato stew.

On a recent visit to Cassariano, my wife Rosalind and I shared the eggplant appetizer, lightly breaded in a fresh tomato sauce, and topped with cheese. She ordered the veal tenderloin, roasted medium rare, with juniper berries on a bed of luscious beluga lentils. I had the jumbo scallops wrapped in prosciutto, perfectly seared, and served atop the lentils. Both dishes were outstanding. We chose wine from a thoughtfully chosen list of favorites. Then we topped the meal off with espressos and left thinking we must be in heaven.

As you can imagine, Cassariano has become my favorite Italian restaurant. They are open for lunch and dinner Monday through Saturday. Please call ahead for reservations for dinner, especially during season, at 941-485-0507. Cassariano is located at 305B West Venice Avenue, in Venice (34285) on the Island, a few blocks west of US 41. I highly recommend it. <http://www.cassariano.com/html/>

Susan G. Komen Walk

Walk 60 Miles - I can do that!

Emails by Karen McClure and edited by Marilyn Probert

Editor's Note: On Friday, October 28 through Sunday, October 30, 2011, Rivendell resident Karen McClure participated in the Susan G. Komen 3 Day for the Cure Walk in Tampa Bay. The 60-mile walk began in Clearwater at a Gulf-front park and extended south and east to a Bay-front park in St. Petersburg. Karen's 50 member team, "Walking in Sunshine," was the largest and raised the most money; Karen's husband, Barry, aka "Bear" and "Walker Stalker", was an integral part of her training and her successful completion of the 60 mile walk. Following are excerpts from e-mails she sent to her many generous supporters.

Day 1

What an incredible experience! Barry and I had been told that walking in the Susan G. Komen 3-Day for the Cure would be a life-changing event and it was! It was an amazing weekend and one that has truly changed my life.

Friday morning we were up bright and early, as we needed to gather our group together by 5:30 AM for the opening ceremony at Sand Key Park. Approximately 1500+ walkers started the weekend. Hundreds of supporters lined the sidewalks. Workers came out of offices to cheer us on. Decorated cars, men in bras, dogs dyed shades of pink, little children dressed in pink, signs with every "boob" joke possible, and posters with touching pictures and stories were all around us. I was in for a walk of a lifetime.

The first Pit Stop was manned by our Walking in Sunshine Crew Team. It was nice to have familiar faces welcome us in. Pit stops include banks of clean port-a-potties, beverage stations, food stations, and lots of cheering people. Then more miles... Then lunch under the trees at Taylor Park. It felt good to sit for a few minutes, but as I did so, I realized I was stiffening, so I headed over to the medical tent and got "stretched" by a trainer. More miles. We got our first glimpse of "Waldo," a teammate's son, along the route and saw him pop up randomly throughout the afternoon...And then, as we would turn a corner, there was Barry who was "shadowing" us on his bike. Couldn't miss him in his yellow safety vest as he photographed the crowds and us. More miles. Checking the route card, we were almost there. And then, there it was - the end of mile 20 and the buses waiting to take us to Walter Fuller Park in St. Petersburg to Camp.

Saturday morning arrived early. We dressed and headed to the hotel-parking garage. Those that know me well, know that "I don't do mornings." So somewhat in a stupor, I couldn't find the car. Bear said, "It's right over there, with the bike on it." I sure didn't see any bike. Sure enough, someone had cut thru the steel cable on the bike rack and stolen Barry's bike. Bummer. However, we were not about to let the stolen bike or drizzly weather dampen our spirits...After breakfast and stretching exercises, we donned ponchos and waited in line to put one foot in front of the other...

The sun quickly peeked thru the clouds to reveal a beautiful Florida fall day. We arrived at Pit Stop One to find our wonderful WIS crew decked out in sunny yellow shirts. Ponchos were thrown in the trash. We kept walking. Every time someone spotted Waldo, the cheering rang along the roadways. Barry was usually close by to photograph the moment. They had become a team. Waldo and the Walker Stalker.

More walking. The routes took us on city streets, bike and hiking paths, thru an arboretum, down along the beaches, thru regular neighborhoods, and thru commercial areas...

My feet begin to hurt. They are hot and tired. But only three more miles to go today. I can do it. Walking is easy, cancer is not. Step, step, step. I can do it. I know I can. We even begin to sing, "Follow the Yellow Brick Road." Step, step, step. Almost there. More encouragement from the sidelines and then we are at Camp.

Day 3

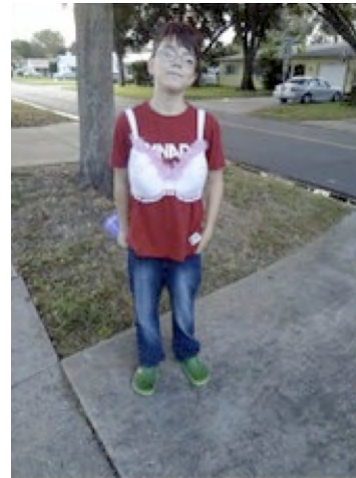

We started early-- up at 4:00 a.m. to pack up hotel room and meet the gang in the lobby to arrange transport to Camp for our final day... Everyone else seemed bright and cheerful -- I needed coffee!!!!

The weather was fresh as we impatiently stood in line to exit Camp and begin our final miles to the finish line. As we walk, Camp is broken down and Komen begins transporting to the next venue (Dallas). An incredibly efficient and organized operation, Komen has refined the logistics like a well-oiled machine.

More walking. Lots of horn honking. Lots of cheering. More walking. Decorated cars. Crowds. Walking... Suddenly, there was this funny little car honking alongside us. It was a 1950's BMW Isetta decked out with a pink bra for a hood ornament, pink pompoms, and pink flamingos...Upon closer inspection, we saw the back seat contained a large cage with a real gerbil "walking 60 miles" on his treadmill wheel. Everyone was joining the cause!

We continued walking...Okay, so there were blisters on our feet by now. But they were worth it.

All three days, along the way, we were greeted by SOB's. They stand for Sons, Others, and Brothers. Their signs are in pink and blue and proclaim breast cancer to be a disease that affects the whole family...the reality is that for every woman diagnosed, her father, her brother, her uncle, her son, her husband, and her male friends are all affected emotionally...

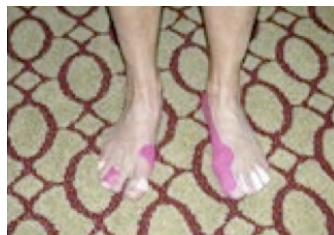

We continued walking. We walked thru tunnels made by supporters cheering us. The cheering station was blocks long...As we approached the final mile we decided we would stop and wait for more of our Walking in Sunshine team to gather. It would be fun to finish together...Both sides of the walk were lined with well-wishers. "Pirates" handed out pink beaded necklaces, hands were slapped with high fives, and there was a girl holding a sign that read "0 miles to go." What a rush of adrenaline.

Soon, the last walkers crossed the finish line. Then it was time to line up for the final walk into Spa Beach Park for the Closing Ceremony. All the dedicated volunteers from the whole weekend (crew from pit stops, grab and go's, safety crossing guards, sweep van drivers, medical staff, camp staff, etc.) made the walk first. Then the survivors in their pink shirts took the road to honor. Emotions were running high as the sea of walkers made it to the water's edge...The flag bearers walked down the path and held the flags high. The survivors in their pink shirts followed and were led up to a platform above the crowd. We all turned and faced them. Another flag was raised high above the crowds. It read: A World Without Breast Cancer. Then, as in the 3-Day tradition, each walker raised a shoe high above their heads to honor the survivors and those that have gone before.

Thanks to you, I had over 195 donors and raised over $14,000. Our team...raised over $158,000. And the Tampa Bay 3 Day Walk for the Cure raised over 4 million dollars ...

I AM PROUD AND HAPPILY TIRED!

I THANK YOU FROM THE BOTTOM OF MY SOUL AND SOLES!

BOOK GROUP SCHEDULE

By Marilyn Probert

The February 13th Book Group meeting will take place at Elaine Roeter's home at 1133 Scherer Way, phone 966-9816. Carol Heckert will lead a discussion of "The Bread Givers" by Anzia Yezierska. This historical novel tells of the struggles of Sara Smolinsky, the youngest daughter of a strict Orthodox Jewish rabbi, as she tries to forge a life for herself outside of her father's domination.

The selection for March 12 is "Nemesis," a novel by Philip Roth. The setting is Newark, New Jersey during a 1944 outbreak of polio. Bucky Cantor, playground director and central character, gives in to his fiancée's pleas and leaves Newark for the "safety" of a job at a summer camp in the Poconos. The scene shifts to 1971 when Bucky runs into one of his former playground participants. Arnie Mesnikoff, the story's narrator, then learns of Bucky's regret-filled life of guilt and bad choices. Elaine Roeter will lead the discussion at Anita Sarno's home at 713 Fordingbridge Way. Anita's phone number is 918-1669.

In April we will take on Paula McLain's "The Paris Wife" which centers on the love and marriage of Hadley and Ernest Hemingway during the Jazz Age in Paris.

Book Group meetings are held at 7:30 on the second Monday of the month. All Rivendell residents are welcome; just call the month's hostess so she'll know how many to expect.

Ankle Fractures Often Not Diagnosed

Submitted by Ed Lin; excerpted from Surgical Products Magazine

Mistaking an ankle fracture for an ankle sprain has serious consequences when the foot does not heal correctly. The American College of Foot and Ankle Surgeons reminds patients to seek correct diagnosis to ensure recovery, especially in the cold-weather months when most ankle injuries occur.

Ankle fractures involve a crack or break in the bones that form the ankle joint. A sprain involves the ligaments that hold the anklebones together. Both injuries can happen simultaneously when the ankle moves beyond its normal range of motion, but a fracture requires more complex treatment than a sprain. "Sprains are very common so people want to believe that is what is going on, but prolonged pain and bruising should trigger awareness that it might not be just a sprain," says Georgeanne Botek, DPM, FACFAS, a Fellow of the American College of Foot and Ankle Surgeons. In addition, pain and ability to walk are not good tests to determine if it's a sprain or a fracture because walking is still possible with less-severe injuries. Telltale signs of a fracture include bruising, blisters, significant swelling, or bone protruding through the skin. In addition to bone, ankle fractures can also involve cartilage surrounding the bones.

Patients with unrecognized ankle fractures have a high risk of developing infection, arthritis, or foot deformities that may make it difficult to walk normally. Among those at highest risk for ankle fractures are post-menopausal women ages 50-70 with osteoporosis. Their anklebones tend to break in fragments that don't rejoin. Patients with diabetes, vascular disease, alcoholism and immune deficiency should receive prompt care because they are vulnerable to nerve damage, infection, or other serious conditions. Patients with these conditions often don't feel pain that accompanies ankle fractures and need to learn other signs that bones are broken, like swelling, bruising, ulcers, and feet that are hot to the touch. Another problem older patients have is increased risk of developing arthritis after an ankle fracture.

RECIPE:

Triple-Chocolate Pumpkin Pie
 Served by Sallie Hawkins at a recent Book Group gathering.

This recipe can fill two store-bought graham cracker crusts. Serves 12

For the Graham Cracker Crust

- 2 cups finely ground graham cracker crumbs (about 16 crackers)
- 3 ounces (6 tablespoons) unsalted butter, melted
- 1 tablespoon granulated sugar
- 2 tablespoons packed light-brown sugar
- ½ teaspoon coarse salt
- ½ teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 3 ounces bittersweet chocolate (preferable 61% cacao), finely chopped

For the Filling

- 6 ounces semisweet chocolate (preferable 55% cacao) chopped
- 2 ounces (4 tablespoons) unsalted butter, cut into small pieces
- 1 can (15 ounces) solid-pack pumpkin
- 1 can (12 ounces) evaporated milk
- ¾ cup packed light-brown sugar
- 3 large eggs
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch
- 1 teaspoon pure vanilla extract
- 1 ½ teaspoons coarse salt
- ¾ teaspoon ground cinnamon
- ¾ teaspoon ground ginger
- ¼ teaspoon ground nutmeg
- pinch of ground cloves
- 1 ounce milk chocolate, melted

Directions

1. Buy premade crusts or make the crust: Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Combine graham cracker crumbs, butter, sugars, salt, and cinnamon in bowl. Firmly press mixture into bottom and up sides of a 9-inch deep-dish pie dish. Bake until firm, 8-10 minutes.
2. Remove from oven and sprinkle bittersweet chocolate over bottom of crust. Return to oven to melt chocolate, about 1 minute. Spread chocolate in a thin layer on bottom and up sides. Let cool

- on a wire rack. Reduce oven temperature to 325 degrees.
3. Make the filling: In a large heat-proof bowl set over a pot of simmering water, melt semisweet chocolate and butter, stirring until smooth. Remove from heat.
4. Mix pumpkin, milk, brown sugar, eggs, cornstarch, vanilla, salt, cinnamon, ginger, nutmeg, and a pinch of cloves in a medium bowl. Whisk 1/3 pumpkin mixture into chocolate mixture. Whisk in remaining pumpkin mixture until completely incorporated.
5. Transfer pie dish to a rimmed baking sheet, and pour pumpkin mixture into crust. Bake until center is set but still a bit wobbly, 55 to 60 minutes. Let cool in pie dish on a wire rack. Refrigerate until well chilled, at least 8 hours (preferably overnight). Before serving, drizzle melted milk chocolate on top. Serve immediately.
